Investor Risk Tolerance Questionnaire

Your investment time horizon is an important consideration when constructing your investment strategy. How long will it be before you plan to use your investment for its intended purpose(s) (i.e. college funding, retirement, etc.)? Please answer the following questions:

Intended purpose #1 _____
of years until first withdrawal _____

Intended purpose #2 _____
of years until first withdrawal _____

In what risk range do you see yourself?

Investment Attitude:     Very Conservative     Somewhat Conservative     Moderate
    Somewhat Aggressive     Very Aggressive

Investment Experience     None     Very Little     Moderate     Extensive

As you complete the following questions, keep in mind your investment time horizon. Refer to the scoring explanation at the end of this material when you have your final total. This is a hypothetical model to assist an investor in thinking about their risk tolerance. Be sure to review the results with your financial advisor.

Total Score	Risk Profile	Strategy
35 and above	Suggests an investor that is willing and able to assume risk and bear possible swings in share price in exchange for the opportunity for greater returns. Equity exposure will be 85-100%.	Aggressive
27-34	Suggests a willingness and ability to assume heightened risk in the form of equity exposure in the range of 70-85%.	Growth
17-26	Suggests a moderate view towards investment risk. The Strategy's 55-65% equity position is diversified among multiple stock investment styles. Fixed income positions are diversified among cash, bonds, and REITS.	Moderate
11-16	Suggests a willingness to take some risk when investing, but still highly cautious. Equity weighing 40-50% exposure, but allows for potentially less volatility.	Balanced
<10	Suggests that the investor is highly adverse to risk, willing to take few chances when investing. An allocation with limited equity exposure only 20-35% and weighted toward fixed income with lower volatility is recommended.	Conservative
